ABOUT US

In 2015 P4P created Sewing Peace to carry on our sewing machine activities separately from our bicycle program. Sewing machines provide a relatively simple way to improve economic circumstances. These tools, often forgotten stowed away in closets, provide personal empowerment for those in need in developing nations.

OUR MISSION

To empower sustainable economic development by recycling sewing machines from the U.S. and shipping them to motivated people in the developing world.

THINK GLOBAL, ACT LOCAL

In developing nations, a portable sewing machine is a vital workaday tool. Brand new, these are priced well out of reach of the working poor. Sewing machines provide a direct means of financial independence for the men and women struggling to support their families in these emerging economies.
